1. The Soviet Union plans to set up a Yugoslav counter-government by establishing a Yugoslav committee outside Yugoslavia or by setting up an illegal center equipped with a radio transmitter to start working in Yugoslavia. This center would assume the form of a counter-government and appeal for help to the Soviet Union and the people's democracies which would then break off diplomatic relations with Yugoslavia at the appropriate time.
2. As was learned from prominent Communists, the Hungarian Labor Party would welcome the establishment of a Yugoslav exile government in Budapest while the Soviet Union would prefer such a government to operate on Yugoslav territory. As, however, the Soviets do not wish to offend Yugoslavs in exile, the Soviet Union is likely to make its final decision in favor of an exile government.
